Our speaker will be John Cococcia, VP of Investor Relations and Strategy at Plug Power.

Hydrogen fuel cell technology is not new. But, the ability to design, package and sell this solution commercially is. Within the past decade, Plug Power Inc. has uncovered a viable market within material handling where its hydrogen and fuel cell solutions help customers like Walmart, P&G and BMW increase productivity and save money, all while reducing their greenhouse gas emissions. While material handling is leading the way today, Plug Power is primed for expansion globally and vertically within markets like ground support equipment and transportation refrigeration.
