Lanford Wilson's alternately funny and moving . . .

Fifth of July

Directed by Joseph Fava

The scene is a sprawling farmhouse in rural Missouri, which is home to Ken, a legless Vietnam veteran, and his lover, Jed, a horticulturist. They are visited by old friends from college days, and former activists who agitated for what they hoped would be a better world.. Their talk, as the play progresses, is sharp and funny and, in the final essence, deeply revealing of lost hopes and dreams and of the bitterness that must be fought back if one is to perceive the good that life can offer.

SCHENECTADY ELFUNS

You are cordially invited to attend the Schenectady Elfuns Luncheon to be held at the Lighthouse-Waters Edge, on Wednesday , October 18, 2017. Our speaker will be Alvin Magid Urban distress in the City of Schenectady is mirrored in its hard-pressed school district: The annual graduation rate for Schenectady High School is about 65 per cent, one of the lowest in the Capital District and New York State; at every Schenectady grade level, K-12, more than half of the students are unable to meet the State standard in English Language Arts and Math. Four years ago, I founded the all-volunteer Reading Is Fun Program (RIF) to help needy 4-9 year olds--many of them members of economically-challenged communities of color--in pre-K, Kindergarten, and Grades 1-3 learn foundational reading-readiness and conversational skills and vocabulary. In the school year 2016-2017, about 100 RIF volunteers worked with about 150 Schenectady children in all 12 elementary schools in the city. The numbers of RIF volunteers and children with whom they work are expected to keep growing. RIF and I have garnered community service awards and citations at the local, county, state, and national levels. I will talk to the Elfun gathering about RIF's evolution and activities and its future goals.
