Talking Book Machine Repair – Help Wanted

Since February, 1988 Volunteers working in a room in the back of the emergency garage at the GE Global Research Center have repaired more than 60,000 talking book machines for the New York State Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. Initially, we repaired tape player machines. The digital machines, introduced in the fall of 2009 have since taken over. While they do not need the extensive repairs that the tape player machines required, they do need to be cleaned and checked to be sure the electronics are functioning as they should. We are in desperate need of more volunteers to help in this important task. It can easily be learned and those currently working in the program will be happy to help any new volunteers. We work from 1 to 4 on Wednesday afternoons. If you are interested, please contact Clark or Millie Gittinger at 377-0671 or gittinger@verizon.net.

HELP HELP HELP

GE Elfun Computer Rehab of Schenectady is in need of volunteers to fill three to four openings. No experience is necessary. On the job training is provided. We work Tuesday and Thursday mornings. You volunteer according to your availability, and you choose what tasks you would like to do. Tasks include preparing computers for customer needs, testing monitors, testing keyboards, repairing monitors, preparing laptops for customer needs, repairing laptops, material handling, disassembling machines for parts and scrap value, maintaining the website, listing surplus items on Craig's list, etc.

If interested, please call Terry on 385-9606.
